

Our GDPR Policy

General Data Protection Regulation

What we collect

We collect the data which we need in order to keep you informed about our activities, festivals and events.

- Names
- Addresses
- Email addresses
- Telephone numbers

How we use your information

Your information will only ever be used to help us keep you informed about our own activities, events and festivals.

Your data is stored on our database, which is accessible to the designated committee members only.

Data sharing

We don't share any personal data with any third party, organisations or individuals.

Data retention period

Personal data will be stored until you request the deletion of your data.

You have the right to contact us at any point to erase or update your personal data. Please bear in mind that if we erase your personal data from our systems, we will no longer be able to inform you about our activities, events or festivals.

Access to your information

You have the right at any time to ask us what information we have about you, request amendments or updates to that information, or to ask us to delete information we hold on you.

Other websites

Our website contains links to other websites. This privacy policy only applies to this website so when you link to other websites you should read their own privacy policies.

Policy last updated: May 2018